Cube Cove -Kootznoowoo Wilderness

One of the amazing things about wilderness is that it has the power to heal itself if given time. It would be most appropriate to allow this. If it is to be given any help, it should be non-motorized non-invasive help. Roads should not be used for trails, and if they must, plans must be made to mitigate the impact of increased human traffic. It would be ideal to allow the wilderness to heal itself.
