Comments: Cube Cove needs to recover from the damage caused by past logging, roads, and associated impact; the massive "restoration" program using heavy equipment is inappropriate for the Kootznoowoo Wilderness. It violates the letter and spirit of the Wilderness Act: chainsaws, helicopters, motorized vehicles, plus tree cutting, placing woody debris in riparian areas.

The best solution would be to allow the area to recover on its own. At the least, the Forest Service needs to analyze a wilderness-compatible plan if it chooses active restoration, such as one that uses non-motorized hand tools rather than chainsaws and heavy equipment.

Reclaimed roads should not be converted to trails. If the agency does convert them, though, it must mitigate the impacts on wildlife from increased human use.
