Comments: Cube Cove is still healing from the damage caused by past logging, roads, and associated impacts. The Forest Service's massive "restoration" program using heavy equipment is inappropriate for the Kootznoowoo Wilderness. The FS's plan violates the letter and spirit of the Wilderness Act-through its extensive use of chainsaws, helicopters, motor vehicles, and other motorized equipment, plus tree cutting, placing woody debris in riparian areas, and other proposed actions. At the least, the Forest Service needs to analyze a wilderness-compatible plan if it chooses active restoration, such as one that uses non-motorized hand tools rather than chainsaws and heavy equipment. Ideally, the area should be allowed to fully recover on its own by allowing time and natural processes to heal the area. Thank you.
