

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/4/2022 12:54:09 AM

First name: Carroll

Last name: Ritter

Organization:

Title:

Comments: An old-growth forest will have a size of 10+ acres, several trees of 150+ years of age, or many of size class 30 inches + and possess structural characteristics as traditionally defined.

An old-growth tree shall be defined as 150+ years or 36+ inches dbh.

Special consideration shall also be given to forests approaching the definitions within 20 years.