Comments: I would like to suggest that we consider all trees over the 50 year mark as 'Mature trees' due to the ability they have to improve our environment. Actually all trees contribute but the larger and older trees obviously perform more. There are peer reviewed scientific studies that confirm this. I would like to go 'younger' with 40 years but since trees are a 'cash crop' in this industry, I don't feel like that would be considered. I would also suggest that 'Old Growth' be labeled to all trees over the age of 80 years. These trees are tragically undervalued.
