

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/12/2022 4:20:58 PM

First name: Susan

Last name: Miller

Organization: Fall City Climate Change Comm

Title: Director and monthly writer

Comments: The Seattle Times is the PNW's largest, oldest, and most conscientious newspaper. Their environmental reporter has twice written long multi-page print and photo laden articles on our old growth giant conifer groves. The recent Supreme Court decision to free up states from the tree-funding obligations to other budgetary obligations will help our old groves.

Any means of raising public awareness is so appreciated and needed. I write and speak on garden items with a strong bend towards climate change. Our perimeter location to Seattle helps us to share our own growing awareness. Ring the bell. Preserve all old growth conifers along the seaside mountains.