Comments: I support this project and believe that it is valuable in promoting use of the area in the winter months.

I have spent time in other regions (MT and BC) where alpine huts are present and it greatly enhances usability during the winter. Further, margins of safety are increased when professional guides are operating in an area.

The description of how waste will be handled seems thorough and well thought out.

Overall this project will be an asset to the backcountry community and is consistent with the Forest Services motto of 'Caring for the Land and Serving People"
