Comments: I'm concerned about the costs of this. The company proposing this hut had offensively high nightly rates on their website when in they were looking at the fortune creek saddle area. Providing a service for a very small wealthy group of the population only widens the divide of equitable access to public lands. How does that "care for the land" or "serve the people."? The average income in Kittitas county is 27k. This project represents just another way this place is becoming unaffordable to the people who actually work and live here. Why would we promote projects and developments the majority of local residents can't afford? If this project is implemented it needs to consider nightly rate that are within reach of your average Kittitas County resident.
