Comments: I am a regular backcountry skier. I regularly drive many hours into Canada to experience backcountry ski huts. I love them, they are life changing, and they create experiences that deeply enhance one's connection and appreciation with nature and wilderness. Let's open access to development of low impact ski cabins, yurts, and the like so that future generations can enjoy this incredible space in the winter. I cannot wait to go visit this place and ski in the winter here.
