Comments: Please protect old growth for us to help mitigate climate change into preserve a special ecosystem plants and animals. It was important that we continue to set aside hundreds of acres of untouched wilderness old growth forests and old growth desert forests such as those in Utah to help preserve the environment for future generations. These places are of spiritual and psychological value to the human race. They provide healing and solace in a world full of technology and electromagnetic frequencies. Old growth forest and wilderness help to preserve peace on the planet. I value these places very much and one of the reasons I voted for President Biden is because I believe that he will with his administration move us into a more conscious and environmentally sane reality.
