

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/28/2022 8:38:47 PM

First name: Noel

Last name: Bouck

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The increasingly rare old growth forests in America are deserving of complete protection from all logging. They are irreplaceable . Because local foresters who are charged with their protection are so often most interested in facilitating lumber production, federal protection is essential to protect old growth areas from more short-sighted local interests.