Comments: The lake doesn't seem big enough to handle the amount of people they want to accommodate.

Holland Lake is a masterpiece of beauty and should be protected at all costs.

What's the environmental impact? High end resorts push out the locals from being able to afford to play in their own backyards. There's also a lot of trees slated for removal. How is that going to help the area? Is there beetle kill or is it strictly to accommodate all the buildings.

Be careful what you allow the lake to be transformed into. It'll never be the same.
