Comments: Montana does not need another luxury resort. The thing about Montana is to admire its natural beauty, and if these resorts keep popping up there's not going to be natural beauty left. And it'll destroy the wildlife here. The animals will have no where to go and the tourists will most likely disturb them and get hurt. If this keeps happening, what are we leaving for future generations? They will barely get an idea what it truly is to experience what makes Montana Montana. All they will know is when they will get their showers cleaned and when breakfast will be ready. Most residents feels this way, the people who want a resort have other places to go. We don't need another.
