Comments: It is so important that we preserve what beautiful spaces that we have left. It is absolutely possible to do this without commercializing and developing into resort properties. Holland Lake is a beautiful, natural place that we can truly immerse ourselves in the beauty that nature has to offer. As much as we tell ourselves that this will keep the Holland Lake Lodge afloat, and as we have seen in many other areas of this beautiful state, it is quite likely that the surrounding Swan Valley community and ecosystem will also be negatively affected. Not everyone wants the "resort life," we want to preserve the environment as it is, as if we haven't done enough to damage it already.
