Comments: Allowing POWDR to commercialize the locally valued resource, Holland Lake, and turn it into a larger resort area idea is the epitome of a short term benefit at the cost of long-term harms. To be frank, I'm surprised that boats causing wake are on that lake, considering how small the lake itself is. There are plenty of larger lakes in the near vicinity that would be a better fit for this proposal (e.g. Swan Lake, Flathead Lake). The ecosystem at Holland would change dramatically if this proposal were accepted, considering the impacts of increased infrastructure, heavier traffic, and lack of knowledge by those using POWDR facilities on how to respect the land. The strong likelihood of increased pollution, increased wear and tear, and damage to environment is devastating. Holland is a rare gem and should be protected as a valuable public sanctuary. Please do not sell without first considering restrictions that would protect and preserve the Holland area as we know and love it.
