Comments: When are we going to stop raping the land we live on for the sake of people whose enjoyment of the land is so fleeting?! It is our responsibility as humans to be stewards of this earth and to make decisions based on the longevity of the habitats we coexist with.

The proposed project at Holland Lake is amoral and has no business going forward. Tourists show us daily that they have no respect for the nature they come to visit. They put animals and themselves in danger constantly.

They litter and disregard the native beauty of this state just so they can play for a few days.

We need to stand up for the conservation and preservation of our wild lands. Just say no to development.
