Comments: I have been camping at Holland Lake for almost 40 years. In that time, I have watched the use of Holland lake explode. The campgrounds, lodge, and day use area are always full. Even during the week. This much usage on and around the lake is already effecting the land and animals. Adding more cabins and a larger lodge could cause irreparable damage to this already fragile ecosystem. A complete environmental assessment is a must before this project is approved or denied. I am not in favor of further driving out the local population in favor of out of state money. The local people that use this land and area have worked diligently with the Forest Service to keep this area pristine. This project has the capability to destroy that. I hope that you will seriously take into account the environmental and emotional impact this would have on the area. This project needs to be scaled back or denied.
