Comments: I have been going to Holland Lake for sometime now, enjoying hiking, kayaking, camping, dinner at the Lodge, etc. It is peaceful, not over-crowded, fairly affordable and extremely enjoyable. If the sale of this Lodge goes through, it is going to end up like Big Sky, Whitefish, or even Bozeman. Overcrowded with out of state people who raise rates to the point that regular Montanans cannot afford to go there. The fact that they want to tear down trees to build a bigger Lodge, more cabins, etc, should be a big red flag as to how this is going to impact the availability and enjoyment of this beautiful place. We as Montanans can hardly enjoy Glacier Park anymore because you cant get a reservation unless you plan months in advance. Most Montanans I talk with are disgusted with that. If Holland Lake becomes a destination resort, it will be ruined for us regular Montana folks who just want to enjoy our beautiful state. PLEASE, do not approve this sale!
