Comments: Holland Lake is one of those iconic Montana lakes that many families have memories from throughout generations. The campground is well kept and nicely spaced. The lodge is small and quaint. In other words it is wonderful just the way it is. We don't need to make these places tourist destination vacations. We have places like Big Sky for that.

Some updating of the lodge is one thing but expansion of it and other services is another. There is already enough motorized boating on this relatively small lake to present some conflicts for those who would rather paddleboard or kayak. What this lake DOES NOT need is the ability for even more crowds. Please leave this lake for local Montanans and the out of state campers who appreciate it's semi-secluded atmosphere!!
