Comments: I have lived in Montana for the entirety of my short 17 years on this beautiful green Earth. I have learned to appreciate the natural beauty that is all around us, and the Holland Lake area is the perfect example of that. The greatest part about Holland lake is the peace and quiet. No service. No stress. None of the outside world. Building all of this new infrastructure would ruin the serenity of this place. People don't pack up the car with their kids and dogs just to go to a resort. Holland Lake is and always will be a staple of the great outdoors. Please don't ruin it with the out of state companies just trying to make a quick buck off the great people of Montana.
