Comments: This project would likely make this historic lodge inaccessible to Montana folks. Montana has enough high end lodges in areas that exclude Montanans. We should be preserving these treasures for generations and not selling our treasure to redevelopment for out-of-state recreation. This lodge is truly one of the last remaining lodges with lake access that are accessible for locals. The redevelopment would further make this beautiful piece of Montana and history a resort for the wealthy. We need to preserve at least some of our public land for our children to recreate in our state without prohibitive economic barriers. Taking a historic lodge on public land and developing it into a high end lodge that most Locals could not afford puts recreational opportunities on Holland Lake further out of reach for all of the Montana Public.
