Comments: Seriously? Montana, "The Last Best Place", will be no more. If the proposed project is approved, the entire ecosystem, from endangered species to migratory patterns, watershed and local way of life will change dramatically for the worse! I doubt any home owner within 50 miles would be in favor of this project, because they would be directly affected, quite adversely. Shame on the slyness and deceit in circumventing, cutting short the process for public comment! We locals are tired of our great state eroding away because of big out of state interests that only want to exploit our beautiful heritage for their financial gain! Please don't take my "happy place" away! See attached photos of this perfect natural wonder. It is a local treasure that cannot be developed as proposed! Certainly EPA studies will conclude that the number of species that will be negatively impacted (not to mention humans) must outweigh the very few benefits this proposal offers. So many people will leave the area and the state of this goes through. Housing shortages and worker shortages will doom the success such an enterprise and then what? Such a shame. Such a sham.
