Comments: At a time when Montana is being overwhelmed by outside interest, adding another is a slap to the face of Montana people who cherish Montana's beauty and wild character. Projects like this cater to those who seek comfort and style at the expense of these wild areas. A few of Montana's people may benefit from this with temporary construction jobs and low paying service jobs, but it will be the, OUT OF STATE, corporation that will reap the riches. Montana will have lost another area to development allowed by an agency that was formed to protect this land for the people. What is now known "As The Last Best Place" is slowly moving to "What Use To Be, The Last Best Place".
