Comments: The further development of precious land inhabited by old growth trees, hundreds of plant species, millions of beneficial insects, big and small game animals, and every specimen in between should be worthy enough of protecting and conserving.

Montana has seen an increase in population, leading to an increase in development. We MUST preserve places like Holland Lake from development to ensure the success of our land and animals.

The only people this development would benefit is the RICH. It will continue to bring down the poor, as development has done in Montana.

Please consider the people, the animals, the land. Do the right thing for the land.
