Comments: I wish to object to this proposal which appears to have been insufficiently considered and rushed through.

It has not carried out a sufficient environmental impact study. Any such study would show this to be a project that will contaminate and reduce the site directly but also the wider surrounding habitat and ecology indirectly. The lake and the surrounding forest ecology are a rare and special place where visitors can go to experience undisturbed land and see and hear rare birds and wildlife, learning and benefitting from and experiencing it directly.

This seems to be a wanton act of ecological vandalism, as always carried out from corporate greed. The ecology of this place once destroyed will never recover again. Once it's gone, it's gone.

As the forest service you have to maintain this for the common good, not for a corporation.
