Comments: There are very few places in the western United States that haven't been corrupted by development. Don't let this area become a habitat for tourists. They already have the areas outside of the national parks turned into suburbs. Don't let that happen here. There is a direct correlation to climate change and air quality from the non productive recreation humans participate in. By allowing this development the Forest Service will be contributing to and exacerbating these issues. In addition those of us who suffer with health issues from the failed government policies that have created the huge fire load problem on our National Forests don't need to have more people running around and potentially causing the next big smoke filled conflagration. Please do not allow this development.
