Comments: I am originally a Montana native. I grew up in Big Sky and have seen the detrimental forces of money and commercial interests destroy one special place after another. The overwhelming growth and influx of people in that area have driven up real estate prices to crippling levels for most of those that grew up there. We have seen our way of life stripped and closed off to us. It breaks my heart when they tear down something small and historical to build a commercial venue that would squeeze out the people that have cared for and enjoyed an area for generations. I would sincerely hope that you would keep Holland Lake and the surrounding areas the way they have been for years. If it ain't broke don't fix it.
