Comments: Holland Lake is a very special place. Throughout the boom that has occurred in the Flathead Valley in the past, it has remained a special place of solitude, reflection, beauty, and recreation for locals. It is one of the very few places left around the Flathead Valley where locals can escape the hustle and bustle of the tourism industry and enjoy Montana for what it really is. There are plenty of tourist attractions already and few places are left for locals to escape to. Please keep this space as it is. Montanans truly need it, as the way of life for Montanans is so special to us but it is unfortunately dwindling with each new corporation that comes in.
