Comments: I strongly disagree with the proposed expansion of the Holland Lake Lodge.

The area is extremely sensitive to wildlife, plants and most important water. Not to mention endangered species.

This expansion would increase human activity in an already overused recreation site. The area grass and plants appear overgrazed and beaten down as a result of foot travel in its present state let alone tripling (or more) the amount of human activity.

Building a site that large would require more water for septic and consumption and the present septic system is at full capacity not to mention the effects of drought years in the future. To handle that much sewage would require a large scale water treatment plant

I recommend a full environmental impact study allowing time for interested parties to participate. Local outfitters will also be impacted financially and feeling overcrowded.

Due to the short notice to comment I haven't had time to collect data for attachments.
