Comments: I do not agree with the new plans for Holland Lake. Montana is the last best state for a reason, and everyone claims they love it for that reason, and then they run in and try and change it to be like all of the other places they try so hard to get away from. Just for money. People see Montana and a financial opportunity and it's destroying everything Montana is known for. The bitterroot valley has already suffered enough through the filming of Yellowstone, and so has many other places in the state. It's already been used for financial gain, please let Holland lake keep its dignity. Please let native montanans keep enjoying their land. Please don't let let Montana be used for financial gain.
