Comments: Holland lake has always been a favorite place to go especially because it is more quiet and serene than other spots in the area. Additionally it's always been a place mostly locals only know about since Seeley and Flathead seem to attract more attention. If we are going to keep Montana "Montana" we cannot have commercialized and corporate companies come in only to raise prices of everything, keep locals out, and take away the feeling that uniquely comes from Montana and it be the last best place primarily due to it still feeling so untouched in many areas opposed to the more developed states! If people want fancy cabins those exist elsewhere!!
