Comments: I understand that this expansion will bring in more revenue but we are slowly ruining montana. It seems like there are fewer and fewer places that a guy can just show up to at any time or year and feel semi remote. All of the major campgrounds are already impossible for locals to get into, the lakes are over populated with boats, rivers are congested and common trails are getting jammed up. Snowmobile season is less exciting each year with the increase of people and same goes for ice fishing. This expansion is just putting yet another beautiful spot that locals once were able to enjoy year round and get away from tourists on the map.

Please consider that we live here year round and endure the bad times. We need to keep places like this off the map!
