Comments: I am against the development of Holland Lake. Montana is unique in that much of its land is public - owned by the state and/or federal government. This allows for use by both Montanans and those that visit the state for enjoyment of the outdoors. It also protects all that Montana is - a state that still has a vast amount of untouched natural beauty and low population. One of the biggest ways to 'go green' is to keep the green we still have left undeveloped!
