Comments: This lake has been a hidden gem for my entire life. It's the place I go to escape the busy atmosphere that Flathead lake has turned in to. There's few places left like it because of corporations like this. They don't care about our healthy environment or close knit community. They only care about making more money. They're greedy and selfish. Our community is the opposite and we should come together to do everything we can to keep greedy newcomers out. I happily welcome new friendly faces into our state. But the ones that come here to profit off our land can turn around and go back home. We don't need them here. Holland lake is a natural beauty. It doesn't need fancy buildings and parking lots to make it worth more. It's currently priceless so who are they to put a price tag on a priceless piece of natural Montana beauty. This breaks my heart.
