Comments: We are writing to oppose the proposed development of the Holland Lake property. Holland Lake is an example of what makes Montana uniquely special. The destruction of historic property detract from the natural surroundings. Holland Lake is in a Grizzly Bear corridor. This type of human encroachment displaces bears and creates an environment for negative encounters and ultimately bears and other wildlife lose

The type of buildings and use of the area that currently exist provide balance between people, wildlife and economic interests. Large resorts catering to wealthy out of statw interests also displaces native Montanans. The Bozeman Yellowstone corridor already provides an example of the distructive impact of people on the natural environment that Montana is renowned for.

Please scale back this project. Protect the culture, history, wildlife and local economic base of the area. Holland Lake is not the place for this type of development. It is not "improvement" it is distruction.
