Comments: Holland Lake Lodge is great the way it is. The proposal to expand this facility would not only harm wildlife and diminish habitat on public lands, it would make the lodge itself less available to local families and others who should be able to enjoy the natural beauty surrounding Holland Lake. Enough land across the West and in Montana, specifically, has been exploited to enrich corporations at great cost to the environment. At the very least, a full scientific impact statement should be required before one teaspoon of dirt is moved by POWDR.
