Comments: Dear Forest Service,

I goes without saying that the growth we've seen in Montana has been unprecedented, and what seems without much thought from those giving permission. Holland Lake Lodge and the area surrounding it, has and always should be a historically preserved place where the inconveniences of days gone by are acknowledged and embraced. There is no reason every place that we enjoy needs to be exploited by out of state developers for the wealthy to enjoy and make unaffordable to those that have supported these places over the years. Much like Blankenship, the locals needs and concerns have been ignored. There will be less support for and more anger towards those that don't appreciate the complexities of the situation, and continue to allow this to happen. This project should NOT be approved, and the voices of the locals that have been here for more than two minutes given permission to develop places that are sacred to us locals.
