Comments: Having been born, raised and educated in MT, I have special memories of family reunions at Holland Lake. The place is special because we were "in the woods", it isn't fancy, and we were all on one level...casual and relaxed. Surrounded by others in our family who also traveled distances so we could all be together relaxing.

To turn this special place into yet another over-populated, "slick", out-of-stater quasi-amusement park is a slap in the face to all who worship what it has stood for. What is the environmental impact on the Lake, of having that many cabins full of people who may (or may not) have any respect for the local flora, fauna, wilderness? Don't approve this plan.
