Comments: The spirit of Holland Lake is in its solitude and access to wilderness. It is one of few entrances to the Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex, containing some of the best wilderness habitats in the lower 48. This is public land, land that is intended to be productive forest land to serve current and future generations. It is not a place that will benefit from modern facilities. It is not a place that needs a large resort with costly restaurants and lodges, accessible to only the tourists that can pay the Powdr price tag.

I disapprove of this project. I do not condone the lodge expansion plans. Please keep the Swan Valley the quiet, peaceful place it is meant to be.
