Comments: As a born and raised Montana resident this is a example of everything this state is becoming, and it's not good. People born and raised in this state are sick and tired of the places we enjoy and love with family and friends becoming fewer and fewer and access to them becoming harder and harder to have. Nobody wants to go to this lake and see A) the construction B) the development or the C) popularity it will bring. There's a reason we hold our outdoor areas so close and dear to us. Because they are an escape from the rest of the world and people and the fact that it is being destroyed more and more every day by outside influences and money is ruining this state. Chose a lake in Utah and develop in your own state. Majority of lifetime residents here feel the same. Montana is not a place to bring your big city and corporate agendas to. We do not want them here and will not let it be just cast aside as you expect. Stay out of our state. This will do more damage then good. We don't like what the transplants are trying to turn this place into.
