Comments: I frequent Holland Lake 15 to 20 times a year to kayak, hike, swim, fish, and pray. My daughter received her engagement proposal at Holland Lake Falls. I love hearing the cry of loons, the sound of bugling elk, and the sight of deer drinking from the lake at dawn. No place in Montana holds such meaning and reverence to me. I am stunned that no environmental impact statement is required on this proposal/project and that vulture capitalists with ski resort contacts and development ambitions may be allowed to build a 28 room hotel, ski resort, and 32 lodges in and around such a beautiful place. I am adamantly opposed to such a development! Go to Banff in Canada and look at Lake Louise! Five star hotels and millions of tourists mostly from China now wander side walk paths around the lake where the great bear, the deer, and the antelope used to roam. Send these vultures back to Park City or at least limit what they can do to that pristine environment! Some things are meant to be preserved. Quit selling Montana to the highest bidder,
