Comments: Devastated to hear about the possible development on Holland Lake. So many of us in Montana are already lamenting some of our favorite places becoming inaccessible or drastically changed by development. This gorgeous piece of Montana wilderness is already such an incredible (and popular) place to visit and camp, without taking away so much of the natural landscape and affecting nearby wildlife in the process. Particularly if this project, like so many others in our state, caters primarily to the wealthy, casually excluding all others-native Montanans and visitors alike-from experiencing the true beauty of this natural landscape. My family has been camping in the loops on Holland Lake for decades, please don't allow it to become yet another overpriced, out of stater tourist trap.
