Comments: Tourists come to Montana why? To stay in 5 star hotels and all the baggage that comes along with the big city life? No, they come for quite the opposite reasons. Starry skies, quiet mountain lakes and crackling campfires are a few of the things that come to mind. What happens to private land is up to the land owners, but forest service land is supposed to be managed with the best interests of ALL in mind. I struggle to see how turning Holland into the new dumpster fire that is the Flathead best serves the majority of the public.
