Comments: To Whom it May Concern,

I have lived in Montana for over a decade. My work has taken me to all corners of the state and I know the phrase "the last best place." Holland Lake is my favorite place uhh the entire state, it has appeared untouched by the recent developments, but remains popular to those who know if it. It is a "honey hole" of peacefulness. It would be devastating to have this area developed any more, to take down anymore trees, to hurt the nature in this beautiful place.
