Comments: I have strong feelings about projects like the one proposed. Similar projects made Bozeman, my home, the apple of the eyes of out of state well-to-do's and triggered gentrification so strong that the people who made Montana what it is have no chance whatsoever of keeping up with their money. Now I've watched other people's money slowly disassemble the community I loved and turn it into something I wholly do not recognize and that people are finding to be unsustainable both economically and ecologically. The people who move in around these projects do not work for or contribute to the community, they take from it. And they treat the non-human environment the same way. Let them buy historic buildings if that's what they want. Don't misunderstand my words - "IF THAT IS WHAT THEY WANT". Not to tear down our history and culture to plant the seeds of greedy self-centered jerks who poison our landscape and our communities.
