Comments: Please let this Montana treasure remain as is ...a treasure. If one is looking for a high-end over the top expensive weekend they can travel to Big Sky and hope they can afford to ski. Sage Lodge in Paradise Valley, Livingston MT has become so outrageously over priced I could purchase a few cows for the price of a night's stay there! Enough - let's have a place that those of us that call Montana our home and know and respect this land can take our family to Holland Lake. I pray it doesn't become another Montana landscape that I have to explain to my grandkids what it once was just a few short years ago.
