Comments: Holland Lake is a hidden gem in Montana. A peaceful, simple, no "bells and whistles" escape for many. To think a large corporation from out of state is wanting to tear into this largely untouched sanctuary is incredibly disheartening. It is quite obvious that monetary gain is the main goal of this venture- not the comforts and amenities provided to visitors. The simplicity of this area is the draw point. To ruin it with a "resort" in the name of capitalism, is an unrelenting evil against Montana and those who call it home. At what point are we willing to stop bowing down to the all-mighty dollar while ruining the greatest gifts God intended for good. I hope whoever has the final say in this decisions has a strong moral compass and realizes the weight this carries. There are plenty of other options for those needing these "amenities" while vacationing. . Please do not allow POWDR to commercialize one of the most prized processions of "The Last Best Place". Thank you.
