Comments: I think this project should 'not' be approved as currently submitted. This would be considered a high-density project, not in character with the rest of the lake. This lake nearly abutments a wilderness area. This project puts wilderness into competition, with the wild/urban interface. I am fine with the project updating/improving the current footprint of the property, but would be against any new and large structures that would expand the footprint. I would assume since the property was built a long time ago, that intended uses/zoning for the property have been grandfathered?
