Comments: The expansion of the Holland Lake Lodge area is not a good idea at this time. Holland lake already provides a wonderful place for recreational opportunities for local Montanans. This development is only in the interest of an out of state business to make tons of money. The environmental impacts will be bad for the lake and surrounding forest. The lodge will only cater to other tourists and people with a lot more money than local Montanans. There is still a housing shortage and shortage of workers in the Valley, expansion of more businesses only makes the problem worse without building more affordable housing. I think renovations are appropriate, but not expansion with increased digging of wells, etc. Please don't turn another one of Montanas beautiful places into another rich persons playground. Part of why this area is special is because it's not developed.
