Comments: It seems to me that the beautiful parts of Montana are becoming less and less attainable to the working class people. Every new development is outrageously expensive and being bought by people that utilize it for small parts of the year. Why not use our land for the greatest good for the greatest number of people? Make it accessible and attainable to all Montana's so we can continue to grow our connections to nature in a way that makes us want to save it? Can create policies that regulate how much of an area can be privately owned so others may still access this beautiful area? Just a thought.
